LOBBYISTS ACTIVE AT NATIONAL CAPITOL

Representatives of Every Industry on the Ground to Guard Their Respective Interests.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The National Capital is today a city of lobbies, and will be in all probability for the next blank months. Jobbers and manufacturers and their representatives fill every hotel, and are still swooping down on Congress in hordes.

The business interests of the country apparently have very little confidence in the ability of Congress to properly revise the tariff schedules. They seem to feel thir particular interests will be looked after to better advantage if they are right here on the ground.

Hence the lobbies. There are little lobbies, and big lobbies and invisible lobbies. The only lobby of which no trace can be found is the consumers' lobby.

While the tariff session is on exclude the idea a "lobby" is injurious to the cause of the people. As long as there are to be any lobbies at all, it is best that they are all to be here. They will watch each other and perhaps in some instances one lobby will prevent another from "getting away with the goods."

There are, of course, some "bad" lobbies. Their working methods are considerably different than those of the business man who comes to Washington to make a frank argument as to why a rate on a certain commodity should be raised or lowered.

A "little" lobby is perhaps a couple of manufacturers of some article we hear about, for instance paper shot gun shells, pearl buttons or prussic acid. They come to Washington to talk the matter over with their Congressman and endeavor to show him why they are right in their stand. They stop at a first-class hotel, carry a pocket full of good cigars, and during their stay visit the Congressional library, Smithsonian Institute, and take in the sights generally. They are looking out for their particular line, but their work is above board, and they are of value to the Congressman who really knows nothing about paper shot gun shells, prussic acid or pear buttons.

The saloon and brewery interests maintain what might be termed a "big" lobby. It spends considerable money giving banquets to Congressmen, as do others of the big interests.

The most dangerous lobbies of all are the invisible ones. They co-operate directly with some member of Congress who is under political obligations to them. Deals may have been made before election, in which the big manufacturer having a monopoly on some commodity had an understanding that his interests would be looked after when it came to the revising of the tariff.

The letters written to Senator Foraker by the Standard Oil Company, which were published just before the last election, tend to explain how the interests of the trusts are looked after, particularly in the Senate. These communications, accompanied by checks for large amounts of money, asked that certain measures be looked after. Senator Foraker had an explanation ready, and after making it was retired to private life. Whether he absolved himself of wrongdoing, the letters served to show how it is possible for "invisible" lobbies to get in their work.

The Wilson bill entered the Senatorial hopper a tariff reduction measure satisfactory to the people, and came out practically reversed in character and as the big interests desired. The "invisible" lobbies secured these results, but how they secured them the public has no way of learning, except through accidents.

When the Senate gets the Payne bill scores of changes will no doubt be made in it. The expectation is that the tendency in the upper House will be to revise schedules upward instead of downward.

Mrs. LeGrande's Opening.

The millinery opening of Mrs. S. W. LeGrande has been in full force for the past two days, and the crowds that have thronged the store show that it has been a success in every way. Her showing consisted of many of the latest imported and American pattern hats and the buying public appreciated her styles.

Elected Grand Outer Guard.

Col. Robert E. Davis was elected grand outer guard at the State convention of the Knights of Pythias while in session at Miami. This is a compliment that was justly bestowed.

ENGINE OF CANADIAN PACIFIC HITS STATION

Entire Family of Train Dispatcher of Road Killed in the Waiting Room of Station.

MONTREAL, March 18.—Four persons are dead and thirty more are more or less seriously injured as the result of the blowing out of a wash pipe on the locomotive hauling the Boston express of the Canadian Pacific railway yesterday morning, three miles out from the city. Scalding steam filled the cab and the engineer and fireman were forced to jump.

The train, without a guiding hand at the throttle, dashed into the Windsor street station, through the granite wall, into the women's waiting room and then into the rotunda, where the locomotive, after demolishing one massive pillar, was brought to a standstill by another.

The four persons killed were sitting in the women's waiting room. They are Mrs. J. W. Nixon, Montreal; her 13-year-old son and 9-year-old daughter, and Elsie Villers, 12 years old, of Montreal.

A score of men were knocked down when the train crashed through into the rotunda.

An investigation of the cause of the accident by General Manager McNicol disclosed that the break in the boiler was on the fireman's side. Fireman Craig jumped at once and landed in a snow drift practically uninjured. He ran down the track after the train. Half a mile from where he jumped Craig found the engineer lying unconscious by the rails. His skull had been fractured. Why the engineer failed to bring his train to a standstill before he jumped may never be known, for Cunningham, the engineer, has not regained consciousness and is not expected to live. The train crew had no idea there was anything wrong until the train was nearing the station. The conductor, noting the excessive speed at this point, applied the airbrakes. They were not strong enough to hold the train with the locomotive pulling against them, but they did check the speed somewhat.

The husband of Mrs. W. J. Nixon is a train dispatcher of the Canadian Pacific at Medicine Hat, Alberta. He had secured leave of absence to come to Montreal to get his family and they were all at the station to greet him after six months' separation. Nixon's train arrived a short time after the accident. The mangled bodies of his wife and children were lying on the platform when he stepped from the train.

JIM MOYERS IN OCALA.

Talks to Ocala Star Man About Gainesville's Fire Station.

In commenting on Gainesville's fire department and the new building that is now among the future possibilities, The Ocala Star has the following to say:

"J. E. Moyers, one of Gainesville's most efficient fire fighters, who spent some days in Ocala last week, gives us the following interesting information about the department of the University City.

"Mr. Moyers has been appointed by the new fire chief, Mr. H. E. Benson, station foreman, and has full charge of the telegraph fire alarm system, which he thoroughly understands. The new chief is fitting the department up in good shape. He has ordered 1,000 feet of new hose, seven pairs of rubber boots, twelve rubber coats, twelve hose suspenders, one hose mender, seven mattresses and seven comforts. All these supplies arrived a few days ago. Another order has been put before the council by the chief for three new fire alarm boxes to be placed in different parts of the city. The Gainesville city council is figuring on building a new fire station, a $10,000 building, which will be large enough to accommodate four double rigs; also to purchase two double wagons, hose and chemical combination. The location they are figuring on is the Burnett lot, next to Crawford & Davis' stable, 150 by 200 feet, which will be large enough to store the city's apparatus, only one block from the square, and will give the firemen plenty of room to turn on going to a fire."

Foundation of Concrete.

The concrete foundation for the new stables of Davis & Oliver is now being put down by Contractor McNally. As soon as this part of the work is completed the bricklayers will start the work of laying brick for the second story. One part of the building will have to be built from the ground up, and it is here that the concrete work is being placed.

A little want ad. will accomplish big results.

Dr. Jones, Historian of Confederacy, Dead

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 18.—Dr. John William Jones, who by his historical works and close association with Gen. Robert E. Lee and Gen. Stonewall Jackson gained the title "Historian of the Confederacy," died yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of his son, Dr. M. Ashby Jones, in Columbus.

The body will be carried to Richmond, Va., his home, and the funeral will take place Saturday afternoon from Calvary Baptist church in that city. The immediate cause of his death was uraemic coma.

Dr. Jones was born at Louisa Court House, Va., Sept. 25, 1836. Educated at the University of Virginia and Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, he was ordained to the Baptist ministry in 1860. He enlisted in the Confederate army as a private, was afterward chaplain of A. P. Hill's regiment and later served under Stonewall Jackson, remaining in the army until the surrender. He was chaplain of Washington and Lee University when Gen. Lee was its president. After the latter's death he prepared his book, "Reminiscences of Robert E. Lee," at the family's request. At his death he was chaplain general of the United Confederate Veterans.

Dr. Jones is survived by his wife and five sons as follows: Carter Helm Jones, Oklahoma City; E. Pendleton Jones, Hampton, Va.; Frank William Jones, New York; M. Ashby Jones, Columbus, Ga., and Howard Lee Jones, Charleston, S. C., all of whom are Baptist ministers except Frank W. Jones, who is editor for the American Law Book Company.

Democrats Decline to Serve on Committees

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The first test of the sincerity of those Democrats who bound themselves in caucus not to accept any committee appointment unless approved by Mr. Clark, the minority leader, came when Speaker Cannon announced the personnel of the committee on mileage in the House yesterday, as follows:

Kennedy, (Iowa); Lundin, (Illinois); Garner, (Pennsylvania); Lewis, (Georgia), and Denver, (Ohio).

Mr. Bartlett, (Georgia) was promptly on his feet and called attention to the fact that Mr. Lewis was not a member of the House.

The Speaker acknowledged his mistake and named Mr. Bartlett.

"I decline any such appointment," Mr. Bartlett hotly replied.

The Speaker announced that fact to the House, and said that without objection, Mr. Bartlett would be excused, which was done.

"The Chair will name the gentleman from Kentucky," said the Speaker.

"And the gentleman from Kentucky refuses to act," Mr. James remarked with emphasis.

The Speaker called a halt to these refusals by submitting the question to the House. He said it was for the House to determine whether or not a member shall be excused from acting and put the question to the House, with the result that Mr. James was excused. The vote was viva voce, and while it was unquestionably against excusing Mr. James, the Speaker announced the opposite result and named Mr. Collier, of Mississippi. As he was not heard to object the appointment will stand.

AMUSEMENTS

By F. M. P.

Wills Company Good.

Pretty girls, excellent music, sweet singing, clever acting by clever comedians combined to make "Two Old Cronies" at the Baird Theatre last night most pleasing to the audience. The play itself is better than the usual run of farce comedies, and interpreted, as it was, by a clever and capable company, it was greatly enjoyed.

John B. Wills as "Prof. Kreitzmeir" created much laughter, while Harry Gilbert, Nathan Barnhart, Dick Thomas and other members of the caste were equally good in their respective parts. The singing of Miss Kate Wills and Miss Ella Warner Davis was a notable feature. Miss Davis was repeatedly encored, and her rendition of "Annie Laurie" was a treat. The applause accorded her was merited

The numbers rendered with the aid of the chorus were as good as any heard here, and the show as a whole is good. They deserve a good patronage.

Tonight the company will present the laughable comedy, "A Trip to Atlantic City," which is sure to please all who attend.

Popular prices—25, 35 and 50 cents.

Special matinee Saturday afternoon.

Electric Theatre.

The standing of the Electric Theatre for presenting motion pictures, the best to be obtained in the world, is already established in Gainesville. It is also well known that all pictures the least objectionable are cut out and that the exhibitions given are made up of pictures that if not amusing in character, are educational or conveying a moral that sinks deeper into the human mind than the mere reading of a book would do.

It is this class of entertainment that has made the theatre so popular among all classes and tne same methods will be continued as long as the present management controls the exhition.

Tonight will be no exception to the rule, and the motion films selected will be of a character to please everyone.

Music Festival Seats.

Seat contracts for the Jacksonville Spring Musical Festival, April 19 and 20, may be signed at the store of Miller & Vidal.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Gainesville People Know How to Save It.

Many Gainesville people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a Gainesville citizen's recommendation:

Mrs. E. H. Walters, 108 N. Oak avenue, Gainesville, Fla., says: "My kidneys were disordered for some time and I could find nothing that would relieve me. I suffered greatly from headaches and was often so dizzy that I could not stand. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I procured a box and began their use. They acted quickly and it was not long before I received relief. I have no hesitation in giving Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

If Silicon Were a Gas.

Whistler at West Point seems to have had a sort of subconscious knowledge of his destiny, and this gave him an utter indifference to everything not consonant with it. Here he was a failure. A direct statement in a class recitation that "silicon is a gas" discouraged his chemical instructor and was one of the final blows to his military career. As Whistler says himself, if silicon had only been a gas he might have become a major general. But the fates were against it.

LARGE CROWD VISIT HEALTH INSTITUTE

THREE SESSIONS HELD IN CITY WHICH PROVED INTERESTING.

The Exhibition and Chart Work of Last Night Was Largely Attended and Interesting.

The tuberculosis—or consumption—exhibition that was in session yesterday attracted considerable attention from the general public. Large crowds attended the lectures given at the schools and the large tabernacle was well filled to hear this important matter discussed.

The first lecture was given at the High School auditorium for the benefit of the school and its scholars, but many ladies were present to hear the lecture, which was very convincing and highly instructive. From the High School Dr. Routzahan visited the colored school, where a like crowd was awaiting him, and judging from the intense interest given him his lecture was well received and the race profited by his lecture.

Commencing at 4 o'clock he addressed the citizens generally at the Tabernacle, the same line of argument and interesting statistics being used here as was employed at the schools.

In the evening he not only gave his address, but it was demonstrated with the exhibit, which consisted of charts, maps, models of tents and cottages, sanatoria buildings, photographs showing causes leading to consumption, demonstrations of living in the open air, and a general stereopticon exhibition showing the manner in which to combat with the disease.

DEATH OF MRS. WAINWRIGHT.

Funeral to Be Held at Home at 7 O'clock This Morning.

After an illness of several days death came and relieved the sufferings of Mrs. S. Florence Wainwright at the hospital on Thursday morning at 4 o'clock, to the great surprise of many who thought that she would be able to stand the great strain of the operation which was performed.

Mrs. Wainwright was born in Brooks county, Georgia, on December 14, 1861, but was practically raised in this State, coming here when she was but a young girl. For the past thirteen years she had been a resident of Gainesville, and was universally liked among the citizens, being up to the time of her death a hard and consistent worker in the cause of Christ and the church.

When quite a young girl her mother died, leaving five children, all of whom she raised and tenderly cared for. In her younger life she taught school for a number of years, but was united in wedlock to Mr. J. E. Wainwright on September 24, 1882, and to the happy union one child was born, Miss Julia, who is now teaching music in Stetson University at DeLand.

She was the daughter of Mr. Chas. E. Jones, who survives her, living at Pierson, Fla., one sister living in Boston, and leaves besides these one sister and two half-brothers who reside at Pierson.

She had been a member of the Baptist Church for the past twenty-five years and was an active worker here ever since her residence. She was a past president of Kirby Smith Chapter, U. D. C., also president of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist Church.

The funeral services will be at the home this morning at 7 o'clock, Rev. S. B. Rogers, her pastor, preaching the services. The interment will be in the family burying ground at Starke, and the remains will be shipped from here over the early morning Seaboard for that point.

The pall-bearers selected to act are as follows, and are requested to meet at the undertaking parlors of R. McClellan at 6:45: Col. H. S. Chubb, J. F. Bunch, J. M. Rivers, W. B. Taylor, J. M. Dell, H. M. Chitty.

Kirby Smith Chapter, the Ladies' Missionary Society of the Baptist Church and members of the land office all had lovely wreaths of flowers arranged and sent to the home, besides the offerings from friends throughout the city were profuse and lovely. The wreath sent by Kirby Smith Chapter was composed of red and white carnations. Easter lillies and white roses, with Confederate flags in the center.

To the bereaved husband and daughter The Sun joins the community in extending sympathy.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Adopted by Fraternal Order of Eagles on the Death of W. T. Gill.

To the Fraternal Order of Eagles: The committee of your honorable order, appointed to present a suitable token and expression of regard for our deceased brother, William T. Gill, who died in this city on March 14, being in his 26th year, respectfully submit the following:

In the death of this young man and enthusiastic member, we feel that we have not only met with a deep loss, but a personal bereavement. Gifted with a mind of acquisitive forces, directed by a discriminating judgment, our late brother was rapidly advancing to the front in his calling with the large interests he represented. But the sun-burst of promise was darkened, then eclipsed by the slow-moving shadow of Death. He was stricken down in the prime of manhood and the flush of its success, but solaced by the tender misistrations of those allied to him by tender ties, united with the sympathetic care of tried friends and supported by a sublime courage, and a sublimer faith, he bore his suffering with the fortitude of true manhood.

To the young and faithful wife who was ever at his bedside, the sick and afflicted mother in a distant home unable to attend the ceremonies, and the remaining members of the family, we commend them to the great words of Lytton:

"There is no death, the stars go down
To shine upon some fairer shore,
And bright in Heaven's jeweled crown
They shine forevermore.

"And ever near us, though unseen,
The dear immortal spirits tread
For all the boundless universe
Is life—there is no dead."

In memory of his manly worth, and qualities of heart and life, be it

Resolved, That in the death of William T. Gill, after a short illness of three weeks, and before reaching the meredian of life which gave high promise, we sorrow for the loss of one of our members whom we admired for his many traits and personal virtues, all of which won for him high appreciation of our noble membership.

Resolved, That deeply and sincerely feeling the personal loss we have sustained, we tender this expression of sorrow at the early death of our departed brother as a token of sympathy to the bereaved members of his family.

Resolved, Further, That on a page of the minutes of the Fraternal Order of Eagles be spread these resolutions, that the city press be requested to publish the same, and a copy be furnished the members of the family.

"Something realistic?" asked the playwright.

"Yes, but I don't want any real pugilists or real naval disasters or real live stock or real battles in it."

The playwright looked wearily thoughtful and, after a pause, inquired:

"How would it do to spring something on the public with real actors in it?"—London Tit-Bits.

TELEPHONE TALKS

The Long Distance System

One of the most valuable features of our service, to our subscribers and to the public generally, is our connection with the extensive long distance lines of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the other associated Bell Telephone companies.

We own thousands of miles of long distance lines in the seven States in which we operate and in addition can connect any telephone in our system with lines extending to any other city in which a Bell Telephone system is operated.

These long distance lines are of the most modern and improved construction and are maintained at a high state of efficiency. The Bell systems, operating in various sections of the country, are uniform in their equipment and in their methods of operating.

Only by reason of this close traffic arrangement between the Bell Telephone companies is it possible to go to a Bell Telephone almost anywhere, ask for "Long Distance" and be put in communication with almost any point in the country.

This vast network of wires, radiating throughout the nation, is used daily in commerce and for social purposes by the banker, the farmer and citizens in all walks of life and our plant here is an important link in this great chain.

CURED BRONCHITIS.

Mrs. Hopkins Says Her Life Was Saved—Choked and Gasped for Breath.

"Some five years ago I was taken with a bad attack of bronchitis. I was affected with a bronchial cough and cold; the cough was generally much more apparent at night, and I would wake up choking and gasping for breath, and there seemed to be a terrible stoppage in my throat and tubes. My throat was tender and irritable, and had an aching sensation, which was especially bad at times. I doctored and used several remedies, but received no permanent relief until I used Hyomei. This remedy is certainly infallible, and saved my life, and I accord it the credit which it deserves. There is nothing too strong for me to say regarding Hyomei."—Mrs. Ada Hopkins, 8 Cutter avenue, Coldwater, Mich., August 22, 1908.

ON AN OCEAN LINER.

It Doesn't Pay to Get Haughty With the Stewards.

"Never, oh, never, speak harsh words of rebuke to a steward on an ocean liner," declared a congressman of New York.

"One summer I journeyed over to the other side. The first day out, at mealtime, I found that I had to embrace the table leg to get near enough to operate with my knife and fork. For my unpleasant seat I called the steward to account. Most harsh was my criticism. Then I told him I would have my meals served thereafter in the upper cabin.

"The next morning the cabin steward told me of a better room and that I should get it immediately. It was more costly and elaborately furnished than the one I occupied with my traveling companion. Then, too, it was on the main deck. I looked over the new room and decided to change. I had my luggage, with that of my friend, moved below. When my friend found the new quarters he gasped with horror. 'Man alive!' he said, 'this is the worst hole on the ship. You and I are in for a great big seasick.' We got every jar of the ship and good and seasick too.

"The day I landed the dining room steward met me on the deck. 'Much obliged for changing,' he said. 'It was at my request that the cabin steward got you to move. The gentleman ahead of you in that cabin and who wanted to move gave me $75 to fix the deal. I thank you for what is a most glorious tip."—Washington Post.

Simple Remedy for Lagrippe.

Lagrippe coughs are dangerous, as they frequently develop into pneumonia. Foley's Honey and Tar not only stops the cough but heals and strengthens the lungs so that no serious results need be feared. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar contains no harmful drugs and is in a yellow package. Refuse substitutes. J. W. McCollum & Co.

Keepsakes.

Washington Irving, who wrote the following lines on the value of trifles, evidently believed in them as emblems of friendship:

"There is something, after all, in those trifles that friends bestow upon each other which is an unfailing indication of the place the giver holds in the affections. I would believe that one who preserved a lock of hair, a simple flower or any trifle of my bestowing loved me, though no show was made of it, while all the protestations in the world would not win my confidence in one who set no value on such little things. Trifles they may be, but it is by such that character and disposition are oftenest revealed."

Wormology.

Should be studied by every parent. If your child is nervous, fretful, starts in it's sleep, is pasty faced, has rings under its eyes, always seems hungry, is not gaining weight, you can be sure the trouble is worms. White's Cream Vermifuge is an absolute cure for worms. Is it's own purgative. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

"Are you going to mingle in the life of the capital?" asked the old time friend.

PARISIAN SAGE CURES DANDRUFF

If it Don't W. M. Johnson Will Give You Your Money Back.

Yes, Parisian Sage, the most invigorating hair restorer, cures dandruff and grows hair. The women of America, who have luxuriant hair, know it does, and that is why thousands of attractive women throughout the land are regularly using it.

For years this almost marvelous grower of lustrous and beautiful hair was confined to the elite of Europe and New York City, but about two years ago it was given to a select list of druggists, and today can be obtained in any city or town in America where society women of refinement dwell.

Parisian Sage is the most delightful hair tonic in the world. It makes the hair soft, lustrous and luxuriant in a few days. It is perfumed most daintily and is not sticky or greasy. It stops falling hair, cures dandruff and itching scalp in two weeks or money back.

W. M. Johnson sells it for 50 cents a large bottle, and guarantees it, or direct, all charges prepaid, by American makers, Giroux Mfg. Co., Buffalo, New York.

"That Which Is Worth Having Is Worth Advertising For"

The old adage that what is worth having is worth asking for is still true—true of the more intricate life of today.

The thing you want—whether it is a used piano or a home, whether it is a ready-made business or a lost pocketbook—is obtained readily through advertising, and with difficulty, or not at all, through other means.

Generally speaking, the country was probably never readier for an inauguration.

After all, Mr. Roosevelt has given the country the first really funny administration that it has had.

Harriman's vacation is explained. He was simply getting in shape to digest another great railway system.

Bourke Cochran censures the press for too great leniency to public men. What a clever thrust at the muckrakers.

There is some satisfaction that the Government escaped from the Standard oil trial without being fined $29,000,000.

The Democratic minority in the House have discovered that they have grabbed the tarred end of Uncle Joe's big stick.

But for the inventive faculty of man in the matter of feminine clothing, how would fair women exist or enjoy life?

With Arkansas threatening to go dry it looks as though New York will soon be the only oasis in the great American desert.

The Senate of Nevada recently voted down a resolution demanding the free coinage of silver. Now we may consider it unanimous.

Mr. Roosevelt will carry a photograph along with the other things in that African outfit. Has the man no mercy whatever in his heart for wild beasts?

E. W. Durant, Jr., succeeds Dr. Crum as collector of the port of Charleston, S. C. Mr. Durant comes from an old South Carolina family and general satisfaction is expressed at his appointment.

There is a movement on foot in Chicago to have Carter Harrison extradited and put into the mayor's office again. The reason seems to be that Chicago has had a thorough trial of a great Republican reformer in that office.

Laws are enforced in some States regulating the size of sheets to be provided by landlords. We have heard no complaint, however, as to the hotels in this State, but we have as to pillows. Recently a party stopping at an apartment hotel in Jacksonville was awakened by a "tickling" in his ear, and upon examination it was found that the pillow upon which he rested his head had worked into his ear.

There is good prospect that over in England the government will establish clearing houses for the unemployed. Not unoften while in some sections there is a serious congestion of idle workmen who are a serious burden upon the taxes, there may in other localities be a demand for labor. It is expected that clearing houses established in the great centers of population will relieve the congestion at given points by forwarding men to the places where labor is in demand.

THE TARIFF BILL.

The new tariff bill introduced in the House on Wednesday by Mr. Payne of New York provides for an issue of $40,000,000 Panama Canal bonds and re-enacts the provision for the issuance of Treasury certificates to the amount of $250,000,000. It also provides for a graduated inheritance tax similar to the New York State law, and imposes duties on a maximum and minimum basis.

Cotton seed oil, iron ore, tallow, flax straw and undressed flax, mechanically ground wood pulp, hides and works of art more than twenty years old are placed on the free list, while the duty on coffee remains.

Tea is taxed at 8 cents per pound, and the international revenue tax on heavy grade cigarettes is increased 60 cents, and on those weighing less than three pounds to the thousand it is increased to $1.50.

Lumber is cut 50 per cent and refined sugar has duty urged of five one hundredths of a cent per pound; crude gypsum, $10 per ton; fire brick, 10 per centum ad valorem; steel and iron schedule, from 40 to 50 per cent; tin plates, 90 per cent; bacons and hams, 1 cent; dextrin and starch, one-half cent; wool, shoddy and waste, 5 cents, and boots, shoes and leather goods from 40 to 50 per cent; bituminous coal and agricultural implements imported from countries permitting free entry of these articles from the United States are admitted free of duty.

Other reductions are on marble, plate glass, lead bearing ore, wool, grease, barley and barley malt, flax grill nettings, single yarns and threads, oil cloth, cotton shirts and collars and printing paper.

Increases in duties are made on chicory root and articles used as a substitute for coffee.

Cocoa, spices, coal tar dyes, Keene's cement, asphaltum, flour spar, zinc in ore, osier or willow, figs, lemons, pineapples, mercerized fabrics and gloves, embroidery and lace-making machines are to be imported free until July 1, 1911.

Free reciprocal trade with the Philippines is provided for, but limiting free sugar to 300,000 tons, wrapper tobacco to $3,000,000 pounds, and 150,000,000 cigars a year. The exemption is confined to the products of the islands. The Cuban reciprocity provisions of the Dingley bill are continued. Provisions for drawbacks and method of valuation are extended and broadened.

The Ponce de Leon celebration at St. Augustine this year promises to surpass all previous entertainments given in the Ancient City along this line. The celebration will begin March 31 and continue through the two following days. Every event of importance connected with the history of the city will be presented by courtiers and soldiers in historically correct costumes. There will be hundreds of Indians and Spanish, English, French and United States troops in the various parades. The social functions of the week will also be of the most entertaining character and tnere is no doubt of the Ancient City being crowded with visitors during the festivities.

The Balkans are the political volcanic region of Europe, and all the winter a feeling of disquietude has prevailed because of the more than possibility that Servia or some other country in that region would plunge heedlessly into war. Perhaps more treaties have been made and more treaties broken over the Balkan question than over any other within the last one hundred years. It now looks as if the tension would be relieved and peace assured to that distracted region. If so all Europe will breathe more freely.

It is too much to expect that the Central American States can live at peace with each other for more than a month or two at a time, therefore it is not surprising that Nicaragua and Salvador have made war against each other. Salvador has sent its entire fleet of one ship to bombard a Nicaragan seaport and Nicaragua has doubtless called out its immense army of five generals and half a dozen privates to resist an invasion. The two countries will thirst for blood for a short time and then they will wave the olive branch of peace and, figuratively speaking, rush into each other's arms and vow eternal friendship. Those Central American people like to play at being nations and the relation of one country with another is a good deal of a comedy, with a little tragedy thrown in now and again by way of change.

More daylight and the saving of the cost of artificial light is the reason given for the daylight saving bill which has just passed the British House of Commons by a vote of 130 to 94. On each of the four Sundays in April the clock is to be advanced twenty minutes, and the process will be reversed during the four Sundays of September. The purpose is to give the workingmen more hours of daylight for recreation during the summer. Its workings will be watched with interest, especially in countries where, as in England, there are large numbers of wage earners. If it proves a success the plan will likely be followed elsewhere.

There are a lot of people who would be willing to play the Good Samaritan were it not for the oil and wine and cost of keep.

GAINESVILLE,

—THE—

University City.

Gainesville is conceded to be the most enterprising as well as the most beautiful city in the interior of Florida. It is located in the very center of the State, half way between the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, surrounded by lands of such fertility as to be capable of producing a great variety of crops; in the heart of the truck-growing, phosphate and naval stores belt. She has the best educational advantages in the State, good churches, with edifices which are superior to any town of its size in Florida, with large and consistent congregations; has a climate which cannot be excelled for health and pleasure. All these natural advantages, combined with a progressive and enterprising cosmopolitan citizenship, are sure to make a big city.

There are many natural attractions in close proximity to the city, some of which are Alachua Sink, Paine's Prairie, the Devil's Mill Hopper, Warren's Cave, and Lake Newnan, all of which are reached by private conveyance.

Spring Park Stock Farm, the largest and finest live stock farm in the State, is only eight miles west of the city and is reached by a good hard road, affording a most pleasant drive.

The farmers of Alachua county, of which Gainesville is the county seat, "live at home and board at the same place." The temperature is very uniform, scarcely ever reaching the nineties in summer or the twenties in winter. The population of Gainesville is about eight thousand, representing nearly every nationality on the face of the earth, and strangers always meet with a hearty welcome.

The University of Florida for young men and the National Agricultural Experiment Station are located within the corporate limits of the city. In fact, Gainesville has so many things that we must be pardoned if we omit a few of them in the following enumeration of what

RED CLOUD'S VICTORY AND DEFEAT

BY BUFFALO BILL

FROM "TRUE TALES OF THE PLAINS"

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY WILLIAM F. CODY

WHILE Roman Nose, Black Kettle, Tall Bull, Yellow Hand and numbers of great Indian chiefs received stinging defeats and were sent to the happy hunting grounds themselves, the pages of frontier history teem with exemplary successes which will show that the red man did not always "get it in the neck." One of these successful old warriors who for years was known as the "Terror of the Plains" well earned that title, and that is my present Indian friend, Red Cloud, now living at Pine Ridge agency, over eighty years old. Among his many feats was the wily cunning with which he engineered what is known as the Fort Phil Kearny massacre.

The two colonels were found lying side by side.

Red Cloud was then a young, ambitious and a most powerful rising chief of the Ogalalla Sioux and ignored the actions of the older Indian chiefs. In 1865 at the Harney-Sanborne treaty he boldly denounced the white man's invasion, sprang up from the council, called on the discontented to follow him and went on the warpath. From that time that section became a veritable burying ground wherever the red chief could succeed in finding subjects for his vengeance. Red Cloud kept the fort in constant agitation, even making it dangerous to collect wood on the surrounding hillsides. In the first six months there were 154 persons killed and a great number wounded, besides hundreds of animals, cattle and mules stolen. One of these attacks is famed because of the fall of Colonel Fetterman, and his men were practically victims of gallantry and indiscretion. Colonel Fetterman was a man with a splendid record. Although he had several experiences, in one of which Lieutenant Bingham was killed, together with several soldiers, and only the timely arrival of General Carrington himself saved them, yet he still expressed himself that with "a hundred men he could ride through the Sioux nation." On the fatal occasion the wood train had been sent out to secure wood and bring timber to finish building the hospital for the fort. Soon information was brought from one of the outposts on the hill to General Carrington that the train was in peril. Colonel Fetterman was put in command of about a hundred men and started to form a junction with the wood train. He made a detour, hoping to take the Indians in the rear.

The Indian scouts on seeing his advance from the other side of the hill left a few to occupy the attention of the wood train and concentrated on Fetterman. The wood train broke corral and went off seven miles northeast of the fort to the Piney. The Indians massed in overwhelming numbers and notwithstanding the bravery of the little command, simply wiped them out of existence and then retired to celebrate their victory. In one spot was found a pile of about forty-nine men, stripped of clothing and mutilated. Colonels Fetterman and Brown were found lying side by side, some believing that at the last moment, rather than be captured, they died by each other's hands. The news was received all over the country with great horror, while from one end of the plains to the other among the red men rang peans of praise for the great young Red Cloud, and his achievements gave him a power in the Sioux councils that he held through many long years.

Red Cloud's continued success drew to his ranks ambitious braves from every section until he had such a formidable organization that, if it were understood that these tribes were of as many nations as distinct in a way as among the white races, one-half of his followers would be entitled to the name and devilish recklessness of the most famed "foreign legions." To say that he kept the vast theater of contest in hot water, a continuous stew or made the plains as active as a picnic party or a hornet's nest is not exaggeration. He kept Fort Phil Kearny practically invested for a year, and with predatory bands, sent here and there over the plains, he carried devastation and destruction to the most unexpected quarters, possessing as he did an organization that, conditions permitting, made his force as effective as light horse cavalry. However, the inventive genius and commercial spirit of the white man in shop and factory was actively engaged in producing firearms so improved that, like the needle gun in the Prussians' hands in the European wars of 1866 to 1872, they created in his simple mind an astonishment that he could not believe or dream of until he suffered from a fearful demonstration of the fact. Myself and others, of course, kept up our personal "pull" by adopting every improvement from the old muzzle loader to the breechloading Springfield and the repeaters—Henry, Remington and Winchester—which gave us often the necessary protective advantage. This improvement in arms was destined a little over a year after the Fetterman massacre to give Red Cloud and "Mr. Injun" the surprise of their lives and something to think of as "bad medicine."

Savage as we have called him, the Indian in his primitive state was most loyal in his belief and appeal under all circumstances and conditions to the Supreme Being, always appealing for guidance, assistance and success to the Great Spirit. Whether it was in following the chase for subsistence, success in war, for rapine, murder, plunder or horse stealing, for abundance in crops and grasses or in conquests in love, he was strikingly imbued with the necessity of the Great Ruler's friendly assistance, or "Good Medicine." Failure in all these pursuits he attributed to the preponderating influence of the "Evil Spirit," or "Bad Medicine." So, after several campaigns of continued success, the reader can imagine the surprise, not to say consternation and depression, that resulted from his audacious attempt to at last annihilate the garrison at Fort Phil Kearny. He assembled nearly 3,000 warriors for this purpose, all well equipped with carbines and muzzle loaders, but was unaware that the fort had been supplied with the new Allen modification of the Springfield breechloading rifle. Besides the rifles, carbines, etc., the Indians were mighty well equipped for close-in fighting with the bow and arrow. With the latter in time of war and in a close fight with the whites an expert archer could keep up a stream of these death dealing missiles with a rapidity equaling the best Winchester of today and limited only to the number of arrows, a hundred or more, that his quivers held. In the scheme of battle that Red Cloud had designed on this occasion he had intended to overwhelm, even at great loss, the ability of a muzzle loading enemy to withstand his attack, backed with the arrow experts, whose work would be far superior to that of the revolver. This had been done in minor engagements successfully, but had never been tried on as complete a scale as "Red" intended it on this occasion, though the idea just simply happened a little too late. Suddenly investing the fort, he found the wood train, as he thought, in exactly the same condition as it had been under Fetterman, but experience had taught the troops, who, armed magnificently and under the capable lead of Captain James W. Powell and Lieutenant Jenness, had been long preparing for defense in case of surprise.

In hauling the timber and wood for winter use the wagon beds were not used, the wood and timber being carried upon the running gears, and the wagon beds were used to form an oblong corral, with openings at each end, so that in emergency they could be closed by wagons which had the beds on them. The wagon beds were used to store all the camp equipage, clothing, commissaries, etc., while re-enforced with sandbags and anything that would stop a bullet, and, if I remember correctly, they were lined with boiler iron, with rifle loopholes. As preliminary to the attack on the fort, Red Cloud thought to repeat the Fetterman result and sent about 500 picked men to surround the little corral, to which Powell and the woodmen had retreated, numbering thirty-two in all. Wagon sheets were thrown over the tops of the wagon beds to screen the defenders from observation and save them perhaps from the ill effects of the arrow fire at close quarters. There was plenty of ammunition and plenty of rifles. Every man had at least three and some no fewer than eight. Some men who were not considered deadly shots were told off to keep cleaning up for the others. There was a quartet of old frontiersmen, led by one renowned as a dead shot, Joe Meriville, and others whose names at the present time I sincerely regret that I cannot remember, who averaged eight or ten weapons apiece. Powell himself took one end of the corral and Jenness the other, and everything was prepared to give the haughty Sioux a lesson in the range, power and wonderful rapidity of fire which the new rifle permitted. At the same time, the Indians had really surprised them and appeared in such numbers that the little garrison, from commander down, on hasty consultation decided that it was a forlorn hope to think of escape, though all were determined to fight to the last breath.

The Indians spread out and gallantly charged, while the main body of Indians between them and the fort looked on exultantly, fully prepared to take advantage of any opening. Powell had commanded not a shot to be fired until his orders, and, inspiring his men with his own coolness, it was reserved until the yelling horde came within 150, then 100, then 50 yards from them, when "Fire, boys, fire!" was shouted, and a perfect sheet of flame burst forth. Horses and riders tumbled, and a driving sleet of bullets struck the charging mass. To the Indians' astonishment the fire did not stop at one volley, as usual, but continued to belch forth uninterruptedly. Then the foe circled around at a mad gallop; but, like the blazing spark from a fireworks pin wheel, the corral responded with death dealing effect, which at last the survivors hurriedly escaped from. The result to the defenders was encouraging, as a mass of horses, with dead and wounded Indians, lay in all directions, as a forest of trees falls by the striking of a tornado. The corral lost the gallant Lieutenant Jenness with a bullet through his head, one soldier was killed, and two were severely wounded, leaving twenty-eight at the post. To the Indians the whole affair was a terrible puzzle, and they actually believed that the corral held ten times the number of men, for they now adopted a new method by preparing to surround the corral with skirmishers, the bow and arrow men creeping forward ahead of those with rifles, taking advantage of every depression in the ground until within range, then to overcome the besieged with gun and arrow fire when the main attack would be made by the entire body of warriors. This was wonderfully skillful in execution, but the defense was almost impregnable, and the defenders were silent under the fusillade that tore into the wagons and the arrows that pierced through the sheets. So terrific was the fire that it sounded like crackling thunder, and the strategic silence that ensued caused the Indians to think that it had been effective, although actually not a defender was hurt in this second attack.

Under a heavy fire from the skirmishers a thousand Indians broke into a charge, encouraged by the silence, when again rang out the merciless fire, led by Powell's own rifle. On they pressed until almost to the wagon beds, suffering from a slaughter almost unheard of, when back they again rode. A few feet more and it would have been all over in a hand to hand conflict. But so close had they come that some of the men threw missiles in their faces.

This was repeated for six times, the sixth being the final charge and repulse, which, if it had been followed by another, would have been successful, as many of the rifles had become overheated, others useless, and the ammunition was nearly exhausted. Then, to add to the general joy, the distant sound of a howitzer was heard, and Major Smith, from the fort, with 100 men, was seen in the distance, and a shell burst in the midst of the Indians as another puzzle in the use of arms. The principal effort the Indians made then was to carry off their wounded, which they eventually succeeded in doing after making a stand for awhile against Smith's command, when, disheartened and dismayed, they sullenly retreated. Captain Powell in his report says that another attack would have been successful, owing to the exhausted condition of arms, ammunition and men. The Indians had a splendid opportunity in the open to check Smith's command, but, believing in the Great Spirit's anger and that there was "Bad Medicine" in the neighborhood, they thought it best to retire from the influence of the "Evil Spirit." The Indians lost 1,137 men.

I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy. J. W. McCollum & Co.

Telling Electric Currents.

It is often desirable or interesting to find out whether the current in an electric light circuit is continuous or alternating. The appearance of an incandescent lamp to the naked eye is precisely the same in both cases. It may be desired, for instance, to use a small motor, and those for use with the two kinds of currents are of entirely different construction. If a small magnet be held near a lighted incandescent lamp the filament, if a continuous current is passing through it will simply bend slightly as the magnet nears it. If, on the contrary, the current is alternating the filament will begin to vibrate, which will make it look as if it were continually changing in thickness. The magnet used may be a small one, easily carried about in the pocket.—Chicago Record-Herald.
